

SEVEN INSANE CONVICTS GET AWAY IN EAST

Three Murderers are Among No. Carolina Fugitive Convicts

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Seven criminally insane convicts, including two murderers, overpowered two guards at the state hospital here early today and escaped. Four of the men overpowered the guards and then released the other prisoners.

Raleigh and Wake county officers took up the case a few minutes after the break, but several hours later had found no trace of the fugitives.

The murderers who escaped were Ed Deaver, who had his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment after he was adjudged insane while awaiting execution for cutting a neighbor to death after a quarrel over a watermelon, and Joe Stafford, sentenced to life imprisonment in Wayne county.

The others escaping were Robert Whitesides, N. S. Goddard, Clyde Gaines, Tom Jackson and Reginald Blake.

PRISON STRIKE ENDS

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—(AP)—One hundred of the more than 1,100 convicts in eastern penitentiary, who have gone hungry almost 24 hours because they refused to work, went back to their duties today after conferences between prison officials and delegations of inmates.

Authorities saw in the return of the men to the rag shop, remodeling kitchen and boiler room indications of a break-up of the 'strike' of the convicts.

The prison was quiet today after last night's outbreak when inmates in the solitary confinement cell block shouted, screamed and threw blazing newspapers into corridors for more than an hour.

There still were about 1,000 prisoners who have refused to go back to work, locked in their cells. They have been without supper last night and breakfast today as punishment for the strike. Only about 10 kitchen men, did not join the movement.

Rockford Lock Co. Case May be Opened for Board Rehearing

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Officials of the National Labor Relations Board said today there was a possibility that the controversy between its predecessor, the National Labor Board, and the Rockford Lock Company of Rockford, Ill., might be reopened.

A petition from either the company or the labor union, it was said, would be sufficient grounds for action.

"The new board," one of the officials said, "is going into a number of the old cases with the hope of reaching an amicable, although delayed, adjustment."

This does not mean, the official continued, that the new organization would over-rule its predecessor.

State Legion Will Be Asked to Keep Out of Politics

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The American Legion in Illinois will be urged to refrain out of politics. Resolutions asking the Illinois Legion to discontinue the organization and continuance of "veterans' political organizations," were adopted by Capitol Post No. 744, Springfield last night, and will be laid before the state convention of the group which will be held here from Saturday through Tuesday.

The resolution declared that such political organizations have become a "menace and destroying factor, not only to the best interests and welfare of all veterans and their dependents, but against the financial and economic best interest of all the people of the nation."

Bids Received on Highway Projects in Nearby Counties

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Bids on highway projects estimated at $1,985,383.72 are being considered today by the State Highway Department. The projects involved include 53.38 miles of paving, 30.48 miles of grading and 13 bridge sections.

Apparent low bidders on jobs in the Dixon district were:

Route 77, Ogle, three bridges between Brookville and route 26, Oltendorf Co. Co., Elgin, $32,138.98.

Route 88, Bureau, 0.97 miles paving Manlius spur, Edw. M. Roche, Freeport $37,851.51.

Route 89, Bureau, 6.89 miles paving Princeton to Bureau, R. P. Devine, Watseka, $158,700.10.

BOY WHO SHOT PLAYMATE WILL NOT BE TRIED

Billy Atares Will be Sent to St. Charles For a Period

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Billy Atares, the 13-year-old Chicagoan who shot and killed a playmate, will not be tried for murder or sent to prison.

State's Attorney A. H. Greening today accepted recommendations of psychiatrists that the boy should spend several years at the state school for boys at St. Charles and then be placed in a foster home.

Dr. James P. Molley, Jr., and Verne Lyon, who examined young Atares at the request of Governor Horner, reported:

"We feel that the trial of this boy on a charge of murder would be unwise. We feel that it would be better to have the case heard by the juvenile court. We feel that a prison sentence for him would be very dangerous to him."

Several weeks ago Billy confessed that he shot and killed Raymond Wylder, 11, near Auburn because the younger boy had told about a robbery.

Fruit Jars Needed by the Unemployed of this Community

Have you a lot of glass jars suitable for canning fruits and vegetables that are collecting dust on basement or attic shelves? If you don't need them for yourself you can get them into some very useful employment by donating them to unemployed families in Dixon.

Hundreds of Dixon families who are on the relief rolls need jars for canning. The Illinois Emergency Relief office in Dixon is not allowed to buy the jars, but is able to supply the tops and rubbers. If you can spare some jars won't you please bring them to the relief headquarters at the foot of Hennepin Avenue or telephone your address to that office, Phone No. 53, and your jars will be called for.

PROCESS TAXES FOR BENEFIT OF A FAVORED FEW

—U. S. SEN. DICKINSON

New Deal's Crop Allotment Plan Is Hit at Big Picnic

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, a member of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, attacked the New Deal in general and the agricultural administration's crop allotment plans in particular in an address before a group of Illinois farmers today.

He spoke at the Trask Bridge picnic, annual event at a site 11 miles northwest of Rockford. It is claimed to be the world's largest farmers' picnic.

Dickinson termed the allotment plans as "the dreams of impractical theorists" and questioned the constitutionality of the processing tax.

In order to finance this beautiful theory of crop allotment, he said, "a processing tax has been authorized. Never before in the history of the country has an executive of a department ever been permitted to either levy a tax or disburse benefits. It is my judgment that this tax cannot be sustained under the Constitution, and that a test should be made thereof. It is a tax on the many for the benefit of a few. It is a tax for the benefit of a particular group. It is a tax which the benefits cannot be equitably distributed. It is a tax that under present conditions, seventy to eighty per cent is paid by the producers themselves and then redistributed to such producers."

DIVIDEND FOR DEPOSITORS IN BANK AT ASHTON

Second Payment of 20 Per Cent Authorized by Auditor

Edward J. Barrett, State Auditor, today announced that he has authorized payment of a 20 per cent dividend amounting to $16,642.52 to the depositors of the Farmers State Bank, Ashton. This is the second dividend to be paid since the bank closed, bringing the total up to 40 per cent. The checks will be given out during the week of August 27th.

In addition to this dividend $10,089.44 has been paid to preferred creditors and $15,000 has been paid on bills payable.

Sixteen per cent of this dividend is being paid out of funds acquired in the ordinary course of liquidation. Four per cent is being paid out of funds acquired from the receiver of the Stockholders Liability Suit.

PAW PAW HOME-COMING TO BE ON LABOR DAY

Great Celebration to Follow Compton's Centennial

Labor Day will be suitably observed Monday of next week in Paw Paw, the occasion being the annual Homecoming celebration. A fine program of entertainment has been arranged for the day and it is expected that hundreds of visitors and former residents will avail themselves of the opportunity to return to Paw Paw and renew old acquaintances.

Hon. Dewey Short, congressman from Missouri, will be the principal speaker of the day. The youthful congressman, the youngest member of the lower house when he was elected four years ago, has a national reputation as an orator. He is scheduled to speak at the Ogle county fair grounds at Oregon in the afternoon and will go to Paw Paw for the evening address.

Congressman Short was educated in American, German and English universities, and possesses a background of education and experience unusual in one of his age. His address, which will be delivered on Main Street at 7:30 will be preceded by a program of vaudeville numbers for which liberal prizes have been offered and will be the concluding event of the day's program, except for the free pavement dance with which the eventful day will be concluded.

The Paw Paw celebration follows that of the centennial of Brooklyn township at Compton tomorrow.

AUTOPSY ORDERED ON PATIENT STATE HOSPITAL

Parents of Epileptic Not Satisfied With Coroner's Verdict

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Ney of Lombard, parents of Marcus Ney, 31-year-old epileptic patient at the Dixon state hospital, who passed away at 12:40 this morning at the institution, were not content with a verdict of a jury which investigated the death, with the result that Coroner Frank M. Banker today ordered an autopsy be performed. The verdict of the Coroner's jury found that death was due to lobar pneumonia with epilepsy being the contributory cause following the ingestion which was conducted at the Staphes mortuary at 9:30 this morning.

Bruires which appeared on the body were described as having been sustained while the patient was suffering from seizures and the verdict of the jury found that these were not contributory causes or incidental to the death. Testimony of physicians of the staff of the institution as well as several employees was to the effect that the patient suffered a series of severe convulsions and that bruires were sustained during these.

Ward Had Complained

After the verdict of the jury was read, the parents made known their dissatisfaction with the findings and Coroner Frank M. Banker ordered that a post mortem examination of the body be made and named Dr. Zolten Glettoff of the institution staff to make the report. The father of the deceased patient stated that he had received a letter several days ago from his son in which he complained of rough treatment at the hands of other patients. No history of any violence was brought out in the inquisition on the part of employees and one case was recited in which it was testified that the deceased patient was held by other patients during a seizure last week.

Ney was received at the Dixon state hospital on Aug. 14 from DuPage county, having been committed to the local institution for treatment for epilepsy.

New Assessment of Two Big Utilities Urged by Kerner

Chicago, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The price increase contagion, intense in the hog market since Aug. 3, spread to cattle and grain in Chicago today.

Hogs repeated the performance they have been staging every trading day since the livestock handlers' strike ended and moved up to a new top of $6.05 a hundredweight. This price has not been equaled here since Aug. 10, 1931.

The hog producer, when the $2.25 processing tax is added, is getting close to $10 a hundredweight for his hogs, observers pointed out today, nearly $1 above the $8.80 (the 1909-1914 average) fixed by the AAA as its objective in the price raising campaign. The average cost of droves yesterday was $7.43, making the average return to producers $9.67.

In the cattle alleys a new top of $10.90, also highest since early in 1931, was paid for prime weight steers, but the bulk of the market was bringing $10 to $10.60, with heifers up to $8.25 and other grades and classes fully steady.

Grain prices rose sharply on reports of frost damage in northern sections of the Canadian wheat belt and strength in foreign markets. Wheat and corn futures showed gains at times of almost two cents a bushel.

58 HOGS TODAY

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Hogs reached $8 a hundredweight at the National Stockyards today, the highest since Aug. 10, 1931.

The market was up to 15 cents higher, hogs in the 170-270-pound range bringing $7.85 to $8.

Seek To Rent Pasture Land Here For Cattle From Drought Areas

The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission seeks to rent pasture land in this vicinity to pasture cattle purchased in drought stricken areas.

Pastures measuring 25 acres or more are suitable, if they have good grass and available water. The commission will pay a good fair price per month for pasture rental. Anyone owning such suitable pasture land should communicate with County Administrator Van Lanningham at the I. E. R. C. office on Hennepin Avenue in Dixon.

MUST SIGN COMPLAINT

Postmaster John E. Moyer announced today that no complaints pertaining to violations of the NRA will receive consideration unless the signature of the writer is appended. Any having this information, if valid, and they are desirous of making reports or filing their complaints, are advised to go to the General Delivery window at the local postoffice where a complaint sheet will be furnished upon application, which can be filled out and mailed to the address which will be furnished at the general delivery department.

GOT RUNAWAY BOYS

Quentin Clemens, 13, and Donald Clemens, 11, brothers of LaSalle, were taken in custody shortly before midnight last night by Patrolman Harry Fisher on Galena avenue and River street, and taken to the police station. The boys stated that it was their second attempted runaway from their home at LaSalle, where they were dissatisfied with home conditions. They were being held today awaiting the arrival of their father, but both insisted that if taken home they would run away again.

BEIERS' RALLY WINS

The Beiers Bakers staged a rally in the eighth inning of their game at the Airport field last evening to defeat Princeton, leaders of the Rock River valley softball league by a score of 5 to 4. With the bases loaded in the eighth inning and two runners out, "Shires" Miller hit a line drive into deep right field which went for a three base hit and scored the necessary runs to win the game. Clark started on the mound for Dixon but weakened in the seventh and Felting took up the hurling duties in the eighth to finish the game.

ATTEND LYCEUM

Dr. S. Chandler Bend and Dr. Kathryn Slaats went to Davenport yesterday afternoon where they are attending the sessions of the Palmer school lyceum. A gathering of about 3,500 delegates was expected today and the annual picnic and outing place yesterday afternoon and evening. Many chaperons from foreign countries arrived over the week-end to join the large number arriving from all parts of the United States and Canada. A very interesting program has been arranged for the gathering which will continue through the week. Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Gebhardt returned home last evening.

COTTON TEXTILE OPERATORS WILL NOT GO TO MEET

Strike Seems Certain: Violence Increases in Chicago

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Cotton Textile Institute notified the national labor relations board at Washington today of its refusal to confer with union leaders to avert the threatened textile strike.

One eighth of the city's police force were assigned to strike duty as the list of casualties swelled to 36 injured, two of them seriously.

Most of the violence is caused by men in cars and on foot, who throw bricks through bus windows and flee.

Windows were smashed in a dozen buses within the past 24 hours, and stench bombs were hurled at five others.

FERA CASUALTY

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Another FERA worker, the fifth casualty in two days, was mauled by strike pickets today as works authorities announced plans to increase the personnel despite the raids of strikers.

A band of 100 pickets pummeled the laborer at a southwest side project and fled before police arrived. Motorized sheriff's deputies and a detachment of motorcycle police are being held constantly in headquarters for emergency assignments to trouble zones.

Benjamin Glassberg, county relief and FERA superintendent, said the county's work list of 11,000 employees will be increased next month to 19,000 to care for new projects planned by a commission of engineers. These include harvesting of ice for poor families, shoe repair and tailor shops, and fruit vegetable and meat canning departments.

MAY REACH AGREEMENT

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Possibility of an agreement that would end the aluminum strike within a few hours was seen by representatives of the Aluminum Company of America during a recess in their conference today with aluminum workers council executives.

"There's a chance, of course, that something will happen to upset the apple cart," the company spokesman said. "We feel, though, that there is a distinct possibility that we'll be able to get together within a few hours."

The strike affecting about 10,000 workers in four of the company's largest plants, was called several weeks ago by the union with demands for a written contract, collection of union dues by the company and a universal wage scale.

TEXTILE STRIKE NEARER

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Garrison of the national labor relations board said today he had no intention of withdrawing from the menacing textile strike situation but that "unless something develops" he would "make no formal request that the present conference be delayed."

His statement was made at a press conference while an order expected to tie up the entire cotton textile industry on September 4, was being prepared at strike headquarters of the United Textile Workers.

In explaining his statement that he would not request a formal postponement of the strike, Garrison said:

"At the present time we have nothing upon which to base such a request. The situation may change within 24 hours."

Awaits Manufacturers

Garrison still awaited acceptance by the manufacturers of his request to meet here tomorrow with the national labor board and representatives of the union. He was informed this morning by George A. Sloan president of the Cotton Textile Institute, that efforts to communicate with all the manufacturers had been unsuccessful.

During the conference a telegram arrived from W. D. Anderson, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, who had been asked to bring a group of southern manufacturers here for a conference with Garrison tomorrow.

"He seems to have declined our invitation very courteously," Garrison said after reading it. "He points out that Mr. Sloan is prepared to present the views of industry."

Prepare Strike Order

Meanwhile the strike committee of the United Textile Workers announced that the official draft of the order for a general strike was being prepared.

DEMOCRATS IN
ON SOCIALIST

four years in office and which helped win him the Democratic nomination, the Socialist author wrote:

Immediately after having taken the oath of office, he (Sinclair) stepped to the microphone and said: "As Governor of California my first action is to sign a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney. I commission a messenger to take this document to the warden of San Quentin prison, and obtain Mooney's release. At this time I offer to him my profound apologies for the injustice which the state of California has done to him for the past eighteen years."

Ten persons were fatally injured and 40 others hurt in the 1916 bombing for which Mooney and Warren K. Billings, now in Polson prison, were sentenced to life imprisonment.

RUN-OFF NECESSARY

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 29—(AP)—The bid of former governor Theodore G. Bilbo for a seat in the United States Senate in place of Senator Hubert D. Stephens was set today for final settlement on Sept. 18 when the two meet in a runoff primary.

Although Stephens had a slight lead over Bilbo as yesterday's primary balloting was tabulated, a run-off primary was necessary as no candidate had a majority.

With only about 300 precincts missing out of 1,611, Stephens polled 58,054 votes to 54,804 for Bilbo. Former Representative Ross A. Collins was third with 37,447 and State Senator Frank H. Harper last with 13,139.

In the congressional contests, Reps. Whittington, Rankin and Dosey were renominated, while runoffs will be necessary in the other four districts.

Tax Association
Heads for Action
by Supreme Court

At a public meeting held Tuesday by 50 taxpayers at Dixon, ways and means were discussed for the lowering of taxes for those that now pay, by listing the property of those that now do not pay.

A considerable amount of money was raised by $50 subscription and less, to be used for court action on some tax fraud case to be selected from the county records.

The point on which they desire Supreme Court decision is:

If the owner of a note, mortgage or trust deed denies ownership of such property by failure to list it on his tax schedule, thereby defrauding the government by tax evasion, will such wrong-doer be permitted to use the courts to force collection or foreclosure lien?

On the decision of the court rests the possibility of invalidating or making uncollectable many notes now not listed on the owners' tax schedules.

The tax expert Attorney Frank S. Regan, was one of the speakers at the meeting.

He stated that similar court action is now being contemplated in Winnebago county.

The Lee county board of review is now in session, helping those that need correction in their tax schedules.

A resolution was passed at the tax meeting, asking the Board of Review to continue the indefatigable work beyond September 7 so that the hundreds of unlisted notes, trust deeds and mortgages may be put on the tax records.

JESUS knew that humanity had been grievously in error regarding true wealth and substance. The people believed that the acquisition of vast possessions signified wealth, and great dependence was placed upon these possessions instead of upon God's loving power. How assuring it is to know that today, as in Jesus' day, we may in sincerity seek the things of Spirit, God, and find our human needs taken care of by our heavenly Father. Never before in the history of mankind have there been so many business men and women seeking divine guidance that they may wisely handle the affairs of the day, the business perplexities, the labor and economic distresses.

Reconciliation of Famous Stars Seems To Be More Certain

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Answering a question about a reported reconciliation with Douglas Fairbanks, film star, Mary Pickford said today: "I won't deny it."

The question was asked the actress after reports became persistent that the couple would announce a reconciliation within several days. They have been seen together frequently since Fairbanks returned here 10 days ago from Europe, where he went some 14 months ago after separating from the actress. Later she sued for divorce but the case has not been brought to trial.

Told by one questioner that he possessed information from an authoritative source that a reconciliation soon would be announced, the actress said:

"I hope it is true. I can't discuss it now. I have never discussed the matter. Why should I begin now?"

Fairbanks was at the estate of the couple, Pickford, at the time but refused to say anything about the reports.

The rumors of a reconciliation were accompanied by reports that the couple intended to pool their resources for the production of a new series of motion pictures, as they did for a number of years prior to their separation.

After the announcement, reports said, Miss Pickford will drop her divorce action and Fairbanks will move back into Pickford.

Miss Beth Beede, And Edward Gerdes Wed in the West

This is the story of a trip to Yellowstone Park which had as one of its most important features a wedding.

About ten days ago Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leydig started on a motor trek to the west, and accompanying them were a couple of young friends, Miss Beth Beede and Edward M. Gerdes, both of Dixon. Cards were received from the travelers along the route, the last one being from Yellowstone Park. Then this morning the Telegraph was advised over its Associated Press wire that Edward Gerdes and Miss Beth Beede had yesterday taken out a license to wed. The dispatch was dated at Salt Lake City, Utah. As they have been engaged for some time past, it is a happy surprise to relatives and friends. The bride, one of Dixon's most beautiful and charming girls, is the daughter of Charles Beede and has been assisting at Woolworth's store Saturdays. Mr. Gerdes is a valued employee at the Eichler Shoe Annex and one of the finest young men of the city. This union of two of Dixon's most popular and admirable young people is cause for congratulations and best wishes from hosts of friends and relatives.

2 cups boiled rice (hot)

Melt butter and add flour. When blended add milk and stock and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add seasonings and chicken and cook 2 minutes. Pour around rice which has been placed on shallow dish. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately.

Chicken fat can be used in place of butter and all stock can be used in place of milk and stock.

Buttered Beets
2 cups diced cooked beets
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons butter

Mix ingredients, heat slowly and simmer 3 minutes. Stir constantly.

Stuffed Peach salads
4 halves peaches
1-2 cup cottage cheese
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-2 cup salad dressing

Mix 2 tablespoons dressing with cheese, celery salt and paprika. Chill. When time to serve fill centers of peaches with cheese mixture, arrange on lettuce and top with remaining dressing. Serve immediately.

Nelson Lambert General Host to Friends

The Place de la Hay, was the scene of joyous festivity last night or twenty young college and business men of Dixon, the genial host, Nelson Lambert. The occasion was the unofficial termination of the summer social season, before the trek back to college begins and the sterner duties of the business world assume concrete form as the season turns toward winter. There were various amusements, including cards, music and games, and the inevitable reminiscences sure to arise at a gathering of this nature. It was all very informal and jolly, and tempting refreshments were served during the happy evening. The memory of which will long be a delightful memory to all who were present.

Wedding of June Is Now Announced

Announcements were received on Saturday by friends telling of the marriage of Miss Lavon Baney, to Belvin Kasten, both of Walnut. The wedding took place on June 7 at Preport and attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen.

Mrs. Kasten is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Baney of Walnut and is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan college at Bloomington.

Mr. Kasten is the manager of the Walnut cheese company, and has made many friends since arriving in Walnut from Kiel, Wis., a few years ago.

Children's Party Most Enjoyable

The party for the children at the Dixon Country Club on Tuesday from 3 to 5 was a most enjoyable and successful affair, twenty-seven being present, mothers and children. Games were enjoyed and lawn kiddie was made happy with favors, and all enjoyed very much the delicious refreshments.

Meeting of Blue Eagle Club Tuesday

Last evening the Blue Eagle Club met with Mrs. Lester Smith. Mrs. Smith won high honors at bridge and Mrs. Joe Tusha won the consolation favor. A tempting luncheon was served, decorations being lovely garden flowers.

Dance at Club Labor Day Eve

There will be a dance at the Dixon Country Club on the evening of next Monday Labor Day, for members, starting at 9:30. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Bishop and musicians.

First Annual Reunion of Prairie Star Picnic Held Sunday at Dugdale's Grove Was a Happy Success

By MRS. E. TILTON

ASHTON—School Days, school days, dear old golden rule days. Readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic', all were joyously recalled by pupils, teachers, directors, and friends to the number of close to 250 at the first annual reunion of the Prairie Star picnic at Dugdale's Grove on Sunday.

The weather was particularly gracious, sending an ideal day, warm sunny skies with none of the oppressive heat of many summer days of this year.

A bountiful picnic dinner was served at noon, and followed by a program with Miss Bertha Sanford as master of ceremonies. Miss Sanford has been a teacher of Prairie Star school and spent her entire grammar school days as a pupil. Miss Ruth and Jewell Dugdale sang "Where are the Pals of Prairie Star school" and they were followed by the singing of "School Days" by the group.

Mrs. Loreta Yates, who with the exception of Mrs. Emma Wetzel was the oldest pupil among the girls present gave a most interesting talk on the early history of Prairie Star. The site of the school was donated by her grandfather, Andrew Drummond and the first structure, a log building was erected in 1857. The land was originally purchased of Sam and Dick Aikens, members of the notorious outlaw group known as the "Prairie Bandits". The first school was built in what was then known as Hunt's Grove and today known as LeFayette Grove. Its first teacher was Chloe Benedict, who later became the bride of J. Cartwright. Their son, James Cartwright is fondly recalled by Ogles county as one of her most illustrious sons, he having faithfully and courageously served Illinois upon the Supreme Court bench of the state. Miss Benedict was followed by Miss Judy Drummond, daughter of Andrew Drummond and mother of Mrs. Yates.

The log building was replaced with a frame structure in 1848. Desks were hand hewn, and seats had no backs, short legs of the younger pupils, dangled wearily from seats much to high to permit their small owners to reach the floor. No well was on the premises, and water was brought from a neighboring farm home a quarter of a mile away. The water pail often needed replenishing, and it was a pleasant excursion of bright days to fetch the water.

The school is presumed to have been named by Mrs. Sarah Worthington Earl. In 1862, a new building was erected and this building served the school until 1925 when it was destroyed by fire. LaFayette Band was organized at Prairie Star school. As a musical organization, it was known far and wide in those early days, and is recalled with fond memories by many today. John Drummond of Ashton and Andrew Coakley, Palo Alto, Cal. were of the school present. The band was drilled by Miss Alwilda Worthington, a graduate of a musical college of Chicago, and an accomplished musician. Many of the older people of today recall with heightened heart beat the first appearance of the LaFayette band on a Fourth of July celebration, held on the site now occupied by the parsonage of the Washington Grove church. Four white horses drew the new wagon and both wagon and horses were decked gayly in flags, and made a thrilling and beautiful sight to the many loving eyes, watching for their appearance.

The Rev. W. S. Sanford gave a short account of the most interesting flag, made in pre-Civil War days by the women of Prairie Star school community. They met at the home of Aaron Weeks, and carefully stitched the stars and bars together. It was the only flag in the community and was used at all national holidays, and political gatherings. It was carefully kept in the Weeks home until the death of Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, and then by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt, and is now the precious legacy in the keeping of Mrs. Oliver Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt. The flag was conspicuously displayed at the picnic, and is a most interesting relic. It bears 34 stars. Among those whose names helped to assemble the flag were Mrs. Charles Dugdale, Mrs. Millican Hunt, Mrs. Athel Ferguson, Mrs. John Worthington, all names dear to Washington Grove.

Miss Mary Sanford gave a reading and was followed by Andrew Coakley, who recited the words of a song which told of the names of the pupils of Prairie Star school in those early days. "It had such a pretty tune," added Mrs. Emma Wetzel, "and we loved to sing it. It did sound so pretty when we all sang it together."

Interesting letters from former teachers and pupils, unable to be present were next read. Mrs. Zoe Reed Bundsen, Goodrich, Michigan; Mrs. Maggie Orner Dailey, Salt Lake City, Utah; Ed Reed, Boulder, Colo., (taught in 1859); Mrs. Iva Feldkitchner Gibson, Westmont, Ill., who taught twenty years ago; Mrs. Alma Vandercar, Rockford; Bruce Parmalee, Idaho.

Mrs. Olive Hunt Chadwick's letter recalled the days when she, a seven year old lass began school, the only girl among twenty seven boys! Her recollections brought back a picture of a small girl with a toothache, standing at the teacher's side while he warmed his fur mittens at the stove to hold to her face to quiet the pain. The teacher was Judge William Emmerson of Oregon. Unbowed hair was the prevailing fashion of the day, and Mrs. Chadwick wondered if the lad who used to torment her by using her braids as a penwiper would be present.

Mrs. Grace Hunt McDermott of Seattle, Washington wrote interesting of her recollections of Prairie Star school, of the teacher who was delayed from attending school one forenoon because in passing the home of her grandfather, Millican Hunt, the big bronze turkey cocker had made her seek refuge at the top most log of the fence, and held her there captive all morning. She recalled that in playing the part of an Irish lass at a play held at the school, she used the netting from a peach basket to rouge her cheeks, commiserated having not then arrived in Washington Grove. She served on the school base ball team until her father learned of it, and forbade any further playing.

Mrs. Lettie Pettipeace Arnold of Freeport wrote a letter regretting her inability to gather with old pupils and friends of the district. A telegram from Cohen Wright was received and read. Mr. Lyman Booth was the oldest teacher present, and his letter written when he was uncertain as to whether he could be present was read by Miss Sanford.

The group joined in singing "When You and I Were Young" and "Coming Thru the Rye" and two poems written by Mr. Eugene Ferguson of Bloomington, Illinois were read. "School Days" was one. Mr. Ferguson gave a most interesting talk, telling of the old back broken Noah Webster Spelling book which served beginning of those days "S-H-A, s-h-a-d-y, d-y, s-h-a-d-y, L-A, la D-Y, d-y" was the method employed. Rac's Arithmetic was used, and Pinneo's grammar with McNally's geography and later U. S. History was introduced.

"Andy Over" Tom Ball, (likely the predecessor of baseball) games which were enjoyed. In playing Tom Ball he recalled that at one time while serving as catcher on the team, Judge Watts served as batter, and in his eagerness, he came so close to his friend that when the bat was swung, he measured his length on the ground. Judge Watts offered his belated apologies.

Mr. Ferguson recalled that from Prairie Star school seventeen boys enlisted to fight for the Union. He also remembered that no draft was ever made from Ogles county, as her sons volunteered their willing services to their country. The boys from Prairie Star were enrolled in Company G which shortly after leaving for the battle front, engaged in battle at Perryville, where following the battle about 13 members of Co. G answered roll call.

Judge J. Watts of Dixon also attended school at Prairie Star, and was among those who enjoyed the day. He entered the school as a pupil in 1857. He recalled that in spelling matches he had no difficulty in assuming his established place, and that during the Friday afternoon program when each child "spoke a piece" he was often too ill to attend school or the weather too inclement.

He recalled the drill that Albert Lee Ferguson, pastor of the church, used to give them with sugar cane stalks for guns. His impression of the quieting effect of the large hickory limb hung on the wall during the days of school taught by teacher Dunbar, were vivid. The musical talent of Riley Kilbourne were pleasant memories but the outstanding impression of his school day instructors was that made by the gentle, but forceful and beautiful personality of the late George R. Charters, a teacher at Prairie Star in days gone by. He needed no hickory switches to secure obedience, it was his by right of a beautiful, wholesome personality, enlivened by a quick but kindly Scotch wit. Judge Watts thought perhaps he might still be able to recite the townships of Ogles county as taught them in music by Anne Pierson.

Judge Watts was followed by Judge Emmerson of Oregon, who recalled that on his sixteenth birthday, he received his certificate to teach from County Supt. Samuel Wadsworth. His first school was the Crandall school near Rochelle, where, because his mother was known to Director Dan Slaughter, he had received the impression his candidacy as a teacher might be acceptable. He had not yet attained his growth and was very short. His appearance, as a slight boy, was not very re-assuring, he immediately sensed when appearing in person at the Slaughter home. Upon starting for the home of Director Birdsell, Mr. Slaughter requested he don an overcoat of his son, Dana, who was twice as large as the prospective teacher. Further instructions were that he remain seated in the buggy during the interview. The day was intensely warm but the hopeful young applicant was rewarded with a contract to teach. Upon applying for the school house key, later of Mr. Birdsell, he had difficulty in making him believe that he and the large overcoated applicant were one and the same.

Judge Emmerson was followed by County Superintendent Cann, and he by Mrs. Shoop who taught the first school at Prairie Star, a term of two months, and she by J. W. Hoopes, who at one time was a practicing teacher but did not consent to measure up to the requirements of the directors.

Oldest prizes were awarded to the guest men, who had attended the school as a pupil. Ed Hardesty, 91 years old, won this prize. The oldest pupil who attended as a girl was Mrs. Emma Wetzel. Eugene Ferguson was the man who came the farthest to join with the former schoolmates of the Prairie Star, and Mrs. Nan Posselt of Chillicothe was accorded the honors among the women.

Lyman Booth was the oldest former teacher present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McAnley were accorded the honors as the oldest couple who had both attended the Star school, and Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Brummer won the honors as the youngest married couple who were Prairie Star pupils. Three generations of the Frank Hardesty family were present, all having attended the Prairie Star school. Mrs. Gladys Hensch Hanson, latest teacher, served longest, six years, with Mrs. Rea Mall, second, with a record of five years.

It was voted to hold the reunion in 1935 and again at the centennial anniversary in 1936. Bert Reed will have charge of the plans for the next year. Much of the success of this year's reunion is due to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dunn who sponsored this year's effort so cheerfully and well.

"Readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic" were learned in the school days of Prairie Star, but long after the printed page can no longer be seen, the hand trembles so that writing is no longer a pleasure, and arithmetic no longer is a part of everyday life, the indelible impression of school days still remain. Teachers spoke lovingly of the kindness and consideration shown them by pupils and members of the district. Pupils recalled the lessons and examples which had remained with them, and spoke in loving tribute of those who labored with them in days long fled.

The sun's rays grew longer, a chill crept in the air, and one by one the pupils and teachers deserted the beautiful grove—but the memories of fellowship and friendship were cherished and brightened, and all agreed it was good to have gathered again as pupils and teachers of Prairie Star school.

Prince George Will Wed Beautiful Princess Marina of Greece

London, Aug. 29.—(AP)—England welcomed the news today that Prince George would desert in bachelorhood his elder brother, the Prince of Wales.

An announcement that George, 32-year-old fourth son of the king, would wed the beautiful Princess Marina of Greece, caught London off-guard, but approval of the match, the first in the royal family in 11 years, was quickly forthcoming.

Marina, who is 27, has one qualification among others which will be welcomed by the British folk. She speaks English perfectly, and has spent much time in this country.

A courtship in the romantic Alps of Yugoslavia, culminating five years of friendship, resulted in the match. George, who is visiting with Princess Marina at the summer home of Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, her cousin, wired his father for consent. It was speedily given.

No plans, it was understood, have been made for the wedding but a Belgrade dispatch said it was assumed it would be held in London this fall or winter. No important political significance was seen in the forthcoming union.

Bomberger-Grant Wedding Today

(Telegraph Special Service.)
Polo, Aug. 29.—Miss Pauline Bomberger, daughter of Mrs. Laura Bomberger of this city, became the bride of Harold Grant of Des Moines, Iowa, at a pretty and simple ceremony at the home of the bride's mother at high noon today, where the single ring service was read by Rev. C. D. Kammerer, pastor of the Lutheran church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and a few friends.

Miss Bomberger wore a charming creation of poudre blue triple linette and was unattended. The wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Trump, who also accompanied Miss Lola Mades, violinist, who played softly during the service, and who later sang, "Beloved It Is Man." After the ceremony and the wedding breakfast, which followed the happy couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will go to Des Moines to make their home, where the bridegroom is employed in the offices of the Kilpatrick Lumber & Fuel Co.

The bride of this noon is one of Polo's most charming and popular young ladies. She is a graduate of the Polo high school and Cornell College of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, and for some time has been instructor of music in the Polo community high school.

Out of town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kilpatrick and Jesse Sabar of Des Moines and Miss Jane Hayes of Freeport.

Olive Weybright Bride Howard Corbett

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weybright of Franklin Grove announce the marriage of their daughter, Olive, and Howard Corbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Corbett of Mount Morris, which was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at the Weybright home by the Rev. W. H. Wingard.

After a trip to a Century of Progress in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett will return to Mount Morris to reside. Mr. Corbett is employed by the Kable company.

Beauty's Sole Is Free of Calluses

By ALICE HART

NEA Service Staff Writer

Feet that have worn beach sandals and flat-heeled sports shoes all summer are apt to register very strong complaints when they are subjected to street shoes and high-heeled dancing slippers. Unless you humor them along for a while, the complaints are likely to turn into corns, bunions, aches and pains.

Medium-heeled oxfords, thank goodness, are right in style this year and if you wear them for a few weeks after you get back from vacation, you'll have no trouble with higher heels later on. They are really flattering. Modern shoe manufacturers have learned that a sensible shoe doesn't have to be ugly.

Be sure that your new fall shoes fit perfectly. The salesman should measure your feet instead of taking your size from the old pair. After all, feet do get larger and smaller as you gain and lose weight. If you have weak arches, better buy shoes with arch supports but right in them. You should be removed before you get new shoes of any description. Don't try to do it yourself. That's a little job for the foot doctor.

Calluses, however, can be treated at home. Soak your feet in soapy water, dry carefully, and then gently rub the calluses with a piece of pumice. Don't try to take off all the dead skin with one treatment. After that, massage cream into the feet and ankles. Within a month the calluses will disappear and your feet will be as smooth as they were before you went to the country.

DARING HOLDUPS PROVE WE ARE UNSETTLED.

That $427,000 Brooklyn holdup, aside from being one of the most spectacular and lucrative robberies ever committed, is one of those things that make a man sit down and wonder nervously just where we are heading.

A bit of violence of this kind is not simply a corner filling station holdup magnified to the nth degree. It is in a class by itself; a brazen defiance by lawless elements who have reason to feel that they can operate with impunity.

Things of this kind usually happen in one of two kinds of society: in a wild and lusty frontier community, where everybody is on the make and where the energy and vitality of the mass of people are so great that they bubble over into criminal outbreaks, or in a land where the processes of government are in decay.

They are phenomena, that is, either of a society that is too full of get-up-and-go to be entirely law-abiding, or of a society that is drifting aimlessly down a long slope to disaster. They don't happen where the social equilibrium is secure.

Now it would be easy to assert that this Brooklyn hold-up is only the latest of a series of signs indicating that the United States is in the second classification. Our criminal record during the last decade is a ghastly thing. It includes everything from the Chicago gang murders to the Lindbergh kidnapping.

When it is topped by a crime as insolent and astounding as this one in Brooklyn, it is easy to feel that the nation is simply going to pieces on us.

But a conclusion like this implies that there was, previously, an era in which everything was orderly and secure; and from the time the first pioneers crossed the Alleghenies, we have not had such a period in the United States.

We have always had a tradition of turbulence and violence. If holdup men are robbing bank trucks today, they were robbing express trains a decade or two ago. Today's Dillingers can be balanced by yesterday's James brothers.

We are still, essentially, what we were when the west was open: a youthful, rather rowdy, and intensely dynamic people. If we lack the discipline and order which older lands possess, it is because we are still on the up-grade.

The insolent daring of our criminal class is a sign of youth and not of decay.

DEATH, BY CHOICE.

If Germany adopts the new penal code that has been tentatively outlined, a criminal sentenced to death would be permitted to take his own life. A guard would leave a vial of poison and a revolver in the condemned cell, and the luckless prisoner would use whichever method he preferred to put himself out of the world.

A procedure so different from the usage prevalent in every civilized country is bound to seem pretty startling, at first glance. And yet you could make out a fair sort of case in support of it.

One of the most ghastly things about capital punishment is that long wait in the death cell between sentence and execution—that knowledge, from which the condemned man cannot escape, that his keepers will eventually take him out and lead him forcibly to the electric chair, the gallows, or the guillotine.

Many a condemned man, unable to stand the strain, tries to kill himself—and then prison doctors fight to save his life, so that it can be taken from him, later, in the prescribed manner.

Permitting the man to kill himself might actually be more humane.

IMMIGRATION REFORM.

Federal Immigration Commissioner D. W. MacCormack announces that the government will seek modification of existing immigration laws, when Congress convenes, and the news points to a reform long overdue.

As things are now, it often proves impossible to deport a man whom the country can get along without very well indeed. Among those who slip through the net, as Mr. MacCormack points out, are men accused of homicide, counterfeiting, offenses against the moral code—and, as a matter of fact, practically every crime on the calendar.

The loopholes in the law are numerous, and it is precisely the most undesirable aliens who take advantage of them.

On the other hand, rigid technicalities often compel the deportation of aliens who would make excellent citizens.

A little revision that would let us keep the good ones and expel the bad ones would be a very good thing.

Although there are arrangements for shooting them on a large as possible scale, nobody has started any protection-for-humans sanctuary where they cannot be shot.—George Bernard Shaw.

Automobile production in the U. S. for the current year will be close to 3,000,000 cars and may easily run over that.—George Feehan, foreign trade director Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

Life in Russia is terrible. We don't know what work is in America.—Mrs. Norman E. Mack, Buffalo, N. Y., returning from Europe.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.

The fat old bear stood right up straight and then the hunter said, "Just wait, and you will see that fellow do some very clever tricks."

"He obeys me each time I yell. You'll see that I have trained him well. Now, first of all, I'm going to make him pick up several sticks."

"Then we will build a little fire, and as the blaze goes higher and higher, I'll put a pot of good soup on, so we can have a meal."

"Oh, gee, but that sounds fine to me. I'm just as hungry as can be," said Duncy. "I love soup because real good it makes me feel."

"Hip, no," the hunter loudly cried. "Bring great big sticks, light to my side. Come on, get going, Buster! You shall have some hot soup, too."

"Just stand the sticks up in a pile and then in just a little while, we'll eat. These tots will want to take a nap when we are through."

"Oh, no we won't," snapped Scotty. "Say, we want to have some fun today, and if we slept, we'd miss a lot. We'll all stay, wide awake."

And then the bunch watched the old bear get sticks and pile them up with care. The hunter said, "Kindly you'll like the soup I'm going to make."

Soon everyone was eating and wee Goldy said, "It tastes just grand. I'll gladly wash the soup bowls, at the hunter's little shack."

"Fine," said the old man. "Kindly get some crackers while you're there. I'll bet you will enjoy the plan I have in mind, when you get back."

"The little bowls were washed and then, wee Duncy scampered back again. "Now, Scotty," said the hunter, "feed the crackers to my pets."

"Each one you give the elephant will make him do a little stunt. The tiger also will perform for crackers that he gets."

(The animals run, to save their lives, in the next story.)

There's big news for you in the advertising columns.

Today, of course, it is the vogue to put self first all the time. That is the modern, hard-boiled way of "getting there," but it does not work well in the end. It sounds easy enough, but self is not all that matters.

All this talk of "self, self, self" is really silly, as well as sickening. To be sure, you can get on by pleasing yourself, but you cannot get very far. It is easy to get what you

FINAL TRIPS ON ROAD OF GIANTS AND TIGERS O. K.

Both Retain Leads in Major Leagues in Enemy's Parks

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.)

The results of the western tour of the New York Giants and the eastern jaunt of the Detroit Tigers could be marked up as successful today regardless of the outcomes of the final contests of the trips.

Each team had a 4-1-2 game lead when it took the road and hoped for little more than to hold it until the final home stand after Labor Day. Today the Giants, after turning back the Chicago threat 3 to 1 yesterday, were 5-1-2 games in the van. Detroit, rained out at Philadelphia, still had its 4-1-2 game margin going into the closing doubleheader of the east, one game of which was to provide an opportunity for Schoolboy Rowe to attempt to break the American League record for consecutive pitching victories.

The triumph of the Giants and Leroy Parmelee gave Bill Terry's club a record of nine victories against six defeats while Detroit has already won ten games and lost only five in the east.

Parmelee Hit Homer
Parmelee, carrying the Giants to their first triumph over Chicago in three games, not only held the edge in a mound duel with big Jim Weaver, but put his club ahead in the fifth inning with a home run. The defeat left the Cubs only one game ahead of the third-place Cardinals, who defeated Brooklyn 2 to 0 despite Ray Benge's fourth-hurling. The four hits came in succession in the sixth to produce the only runs.

The last-place Cincinnati Reds ran their winning streak to four games, their longest of the season, by taking their second straight doubleheader from the Phillies, 8 to 5 and 2 to 1.

The Braves knocked Burleigh Grimes out with three runs in the first and defeated Pittsburgh 5 to 3 in what started out to be a doubleheader but was cut to one game by rain.

With the Yankees and White Sox claimed out as well as the Tigers and A's, developments in the American League were confined to the Browns' 4 to 0 triumph over Washington, which left the clubs tied for fifth place, and Boston's 8 to 2 decision over Cleveland, leaving them all square in their third-place struggle.

Bill Walker is slated to pitch for the Cardinals in today's game with Brooklyn. Mungo, Babich or Leonard will pitch for the Dodgers, who make their last appearance of the season in St. Louis.

It was reported that Manager Casey Stengel of Brooklyn is trying to buy Paul Dean from the Cardinals for $50,000, the deal to take place next winter. Stengel denied it and President Sam Braddon of the St. Louis club said he does not plan to split the Dean brothers.

The Browns leave Washington for St. Louis after today's game, seemingly most of the Browns' pitchers are ex-Senators and one of them—Lefty E. Wells or Dick Cavanah—will be on the mound for St. Louis. Earl Whitehill will probably be the Washington choice for the flinging job.

ACCIDENT TO JUMPER STRUT STOPS YANKEE
Yacht Had Overtaken Rival Before Mishap Yesterday

Newport, R. I., Aug. 29—(AP)—Encouraged by her fine performance yesterday, the crew of Yankee, Boston's hope of defending the America's Cup, labored far into the night preparing her for a scheduled resumption of her battle with Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow today.

Yankee was forced by an accident to her rigging to drop out of yesterday's race after she had overcome a long lead of Rainbow and passed her. Her jumper strut, part of the support of Yankee's lofty mast, splintered, just as the wind hauled, and prevented her carrying on without risking loss of the spar. The race was called off and declared "no contest."

Two of the Yankee's crew worked in the dark and rain, swaying on swivel chairs more than a hundred feet above the Boston boat's deck and Yankee's afterguard informed the selection committee they believed she would not require a day free from competition to repair the damage.

GOLF
By Art Krenz

AS THE SHOT BECOMES SHORTER THE HANDS MOVE DOWN THE LEATHER...

When playing a full shot, grip the club as close to the end of the shaft as possible. There is danger of losing control of the club, so the safer course is to leave about a half inch projecting above the hands.

In iron play it is not always advisable to use a full swing. There are three-quarter shots, half shots, and short punches. On these shots, the hands must be moved down the leather. If the grip is not shortened a well-hit, crisp shot may overrun the green.

EXPERTS FAVOR WEST TO TAKE POLO TOURNEY

But Western Coach is Very Bearish About Team's Chances

Westbury, N. Y., Aug. 29—(AP)—Like a football coach anxious to keep his charges from becoming over-confident on the eve of the big battle, Carleton P. Burke, who denies he is the "20-goal man on the sidelines," put himself on record today as being very "bearish" about the chances of the west overwhelming the east in the forthcoming renewal of intersectional polo rivalry on the historic No. 1 field of the Meadowbrook Club.

After disclosing that the west's starting lineup will consist of Eric Pedley, Cecil Smith, Aidan Roark and Elmer J. Boeseke, Jr., riding in this order, Burke qualified as the "Gloomy Gil" of Polo by remarking "the fact that this team rates at 36 goals, as compared with a possible 30 goals for the eastern side, doesn't mean there will likely be any such difference in scoring capacity on the field. There is very little to choose when you get players of seven to ten-goal ratings together. In fact I would say the ponies represent close to 80 per cent of the game in such fast company and the 'breaks' will have a lot to do with the rest of it. I would not be a bit surprised to see the series go the limit of three matches."

Experts Favor West
Although it is the consensus of polo experts that the west will have a big edge in experience and hitting power, Burke considers the prospective 29-goal eastern four, consisting of Mike Phipps, Jimmy Mills, Ebby Gerry and Billy Post, as so much "chain-lightning" on horseback.

"These youngsters have impressed me as a great team," he said. "They are always on the ball and they have played so long and so well together that they are dangerous opposition for any rivals."

It seems to be the assumption that the great Tommy Hitchcock, put out of action by a concussion three weeks ago, will not ride with the east. Hitchcock has been in the saddle only once since his accident and polo officials have had no indication he will attempt a comeback this season.

Texas Star Out
Meanwhile, it has become definite that the colorful Texan, Hubert W. (Rube) Williams, who is laid up with sciatica, will not be in the starting western lineup.

As shifted by Burke, the western quartet retains only Pedley at No. 1 in the same position he occupied last year. Roark, a slim Englishman who has taken out American citizenship papers, and lives in California, fits nicely into the combination at No. 2 between the hard-hitting Smith and the re-

Dispute Over Lease Leads to Shooting

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—Two brothers were shot, one of them suffering serious injuries, Tuesday in a dispute over the possession of a farm four miles west of Springfield.

Percy Schleyhahn, 41, and his brother Edgar, 41, were the injured. The elder one being more critically hurt. Charles Pickett, 60, was charged with the shooting.

The Schleyhahn brothers occupied the farm on which it was reported to officials, the lease had expired. Pickett and his sons had a new lease on the place and had reported to authorities several days ago that the Schleyhahns refused to give up possession.

Today Pickett and his sons went to the farm with a tractor to commence fall plowing. He said he stood by with a shotgun while his sons worked. The Schleyhahns, he said, advanced on them and refused to heed his warning to stop, although he fired once into the air. Then, he said, he fired at them.

A Thumbnail History of Cup Won by 'America'

NO. 3. THE FIRST DEFENSE
New York, Aug. 29—(AP)—Twenty years passed before the New York Yacht Club received a challenge for the America's Cup after an American syndicate's schooner, "The America," lifted the trophy in a fleet race in British waters in 1851.

The challenge was posted by James Ashbury, British sportsman, who proposed to sail his 180 ton Cambria in quest of the cup. Negotiations between Ashbury and the New York Yacht Club, which was in possession of the trophy, reached a stalemate several times due to the British dissatisfaction with the conditions for the race.

But Ashbury had great faith in the powers of the Cambria and consequently he crossed the Atlantic to match his schooner with the best boat America could produce. When he found his arguments for a match race were unavailing, he finally agreed to race Cambria against 17 American boats, including the old America, in a race to be sponsored by the N. Y. Y. C.

Ashbury protested vigorously against the allowance of center-board yachts in the race, but the New York Yacht Club would not admit its power to bar any vessel eligible to sail in the ordinary races of the club.

In a fine sailing breeze, the first challenge race took place on Aug. 3, 1870 over the N. Y. Y. C. course, starting off Stapleton, Staten Island, to southwest spit buoy.

Cambria did not make a brilliant start and she lost her foremast during the race and finished in eighth place.

Tomorrow—Controversy marks second challenge.

LEE CO. WHEAT GROWERS ALLOW- ED MORE ACRES

Government Gives Permission to Increase Fall Plantings

Lee county's 150 farmers who are cooperating in the government's wheat adjustment program will be allowed to sow approximately 223 acres more wheat this fall than was permitted under the AAA contracts during the past season, according to word received by Farm Adviser Yale from the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

In a normal season with average yields as reported by the contract signers in the county, this increase in permitted acreage would produce around 5446 bushels more wheat than might have been anticipated on the acreage allowed at sowing time last fall.

The communication from the U. of I. extension service states that the 1935 wheat acreage permitted contract signers will be 94 percent of their average acreage during the base years as compared to 85 percent allowed for the harvesting season recently completed. Furthermore, 10 percent of their base wheat acreage must be contracted to the government instead of 15 percent as in the past year.

During the base years Lee county's wheat contract signers seeded about 4467 acres to this crop and harvested an average of 244 bushels to the acre. In the coming year, however, they will be allowed to grow approximately 4021 acres as compared to 3797 acres permitted under the adjustment program this past year. Thus, should 1935 prove to be an average year in the wheat yields, the additional 223 acres may be expected to produce 5446 bushels of wheat.

This permission to increase the wheat acreage in 1935 will not affect the benefit payments to be received by contract signers in the coming year, points out Farm Adviser Yale. The benefit payments are calculated on the contract signers' production allotment and not on the acreage permitted under the AAA agreement.

This amounts to 29 cents a bushel on 54 percent of the signers' base production or a total of $16,385.00 in 1935, as compared to $15,385.00 in 1934, less local administrative expenses. The first check was figured at 20 cents a bushel on 54 percent of the signers' production allotment, and the second check will amount to nine cents a bushel, less the local costs.

Likewise, within the next two months, those participating in the wheat program will receive their first checks on their 1934 crop, which will be the same as the first of the 1933 payments. The remaining nine cents a bushel, less local administrative expenses, in 1934 benefit payments will be made next spring after it is assured that the signers have complied with the contract.

By virtue of a writ of execution and fee bill issued out of the Circuit Court of Lee County, Illinois on the 25th day of August, A. D. 1934, at the instance of Henry C. Warner as assignee of Best D. Edwards and Addie E. Scholz, Plaintiff, and against Philip J. Schoenholz and Addie V. Schoenholz, Defendant, I have this 27th day of August, A. D. 1934, levied on all the right, title, interest and claim of Philip J. Schoenholz and Addie V. Schoenholz in and to the following described real estate, to-wit:

The Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section 36 (86) in Township 21 North, Range 2 West, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Lee County, Illinois.

And I hereby give notice that by virtue of the power in me vested by the said execution and fee bill, I shall on Thursday, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1934, at ten o'clock A. M., offer for sale at the north door of the Court House in Dixon, A. D. 1934, the above described real estate to satisfy the said execution and fee bill.

Dated at Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, this 28th day of August, A. D. 1934.

ELDENA NEWS

By I. H. Mossholder
Eldena Mrs. Maude Loggessen spent the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Mossholder.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechtel of Dixon visited at the L. A. Phillips home Sunday and in the afternoon drove to Amboy's park and enjoyed a fine picnic.

Those from here who attended the Fair in Chicago Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. D. Welby and family, Mrs. Mildred and Miss Mabel Deadman, Mr. Charles Kreger and daughter, Harry Leibel and children and W. V. Persch. All reported a good time.

Mrs. Ollie Shoemaker and children expect to arrive home from their vacation Labor Day.

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Eldena Sunday school will hold a penny carnival on Front Street on an evening of fun and entertainment. The story of the first church and Sunday school here will be told and tales of the pioneers and old settlers of South Dixon will be related.

PROCESS TAXES FOR BENEFIT OF A FAVORED FEW

ers as will comply with the whims and the requirements of a government bureaucracy.

Discriminatory Tax
"In other words, five farmers may sell logs, but out of this five, only one farmer may have signed a contract and is entitled to receive benefits from the processing tax. It is a discriminatory tax and imposes an unjust burden upon the producers of one product while competing food products do not carry such a burden."

"The only real beneficiaries of this experimentation and waste of money are the real members of the 'brain trust' themselves. Taken from their dismal classrooms, chicken farms, editorial rooms and law offices, they now loiter behind large mahogany desks solving the problems of the world. To them 'economic democracy' becomes a reality when they can acquire a high-sounding title, an attractive secretary, a good salary, with messengers and press-agents and newspaper boys at their command. They have done well by themselves, indeed, at the expense of the farmers, food producers and consumers, as well as the taxpayers of this country. As for risk, they take none, for they have nothing to lose except their theories. Most of them should be given a permanent leave of absence without salary from now on."

Promises Ignored
The speaker, charged that the campaign promises of the Democratic party had been "forgotten and completely ignored" and told his audience that economic planning and "economic democracy" are just "plain Socialism."

Read, he said, "The recent book 'Social Planning and a Socialist Program' by Harry W. Laidler, which contains a chapter by Secretary Tugwell. The proposal set forth in this book fits into the present Democratic program in toto."

"It is contended that America has sufficient resources to feed, clothe and shelter every man, woman and child in the United States. There can be no dispute about this. It is contended that poverty and unemployment are due to the failure to inaugurate planned economy, which is 'economic democracy' so that service shall be the super-motive of all concerned."

Russia Is Example
It is contended in this book that general social planning is Socialistic in character, and Russia is cited as a fitting example. That in order to bring about this economic planning or "economic democracy" the masses shall be organized cooperatively along economic, educational and above all, along political lines. That the movement towards peaceful revolution will be aided by a development among Socialists of more specific plans and programs for the transfer of industry from private to public ownership, and for the operation of the same under a public co-operative system. "Economic democracy" extends this program to the farmers of Winnebago county in the state of Illinois.

"The president himself, in the foreword of his book 'On Our Way,' says:

"Some people have sought to describe that policy (the new public policy for which his book, he informs us, sets forth the milestones of achievement) as revolutionary. Perhaps it is."

Quotes Tugwell
"But further than this we have the record of Secretary Wallace and his proposal here that they regiment farming from top to bottom, and Wallace has as his assistant, Under-Secretary Tugwell. The best conception of Under-Secretary Tugwell and his social views can be secured from a poem that he wrote when he was twenty-four years old. It should be remembered that his confirmation as Under-Secretary was not opposed on account of any feeling against Mr. Tugwell personally, but purely on account of his social views as presented in his writings and in his teachings. At twenty-four years of age Mr. Tugwell wrote a poem, a part of which is as follows:

"I am strong
I am big and well-made
I am muscled and lean and nervous.....
I am sick of a nation's stench
I am sick of propertyed cars.....
I have dreamed my great dreams of their passing
I have gathered my tools and my charts:
My plans are fashioned and precise:
I shall roll up my sleeves—make America over!"

"This is the reason why we not only question the policies of the present administration, but we also search the records and the teachings and the preachings of those in authority, and find there is reason for our fear that America's fundamentals are being destroyed, and that we are headed for a socialized era, the end of which is chaos and ruin!"

UNCLE SAM TO APPLY 'PROFIT' TO HIS DEBTS

Sec. Morgenthau Told of Inflation Plan in Radio Talk

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau's view that the cost of the New Deal in its first 16 months may run as low as $508,000,000 is expected to be a talking point in the fall campaign. There appeared no doubt that the flurrying of the treasury head did before a nation-wide radio audience last night would be acclaimed by friends and assailed by at least some foes. Estimates of New Deal costs by the two camps have been billions of dollars apart.

Morgenthau's statement that the $2,800,000,000 "profit" the government reaped by its gold policy recently would be applied to reducing the national debt also has aroused much interest. Word from Wall Street was that this was regarded as reassuring and likely to bolster the government bond market.

Means Inflation
Observers hold that when the treasury pays out gold certificates backed by this profit, it will mean a currency inflation of $2,800,000,000. Many onlookers had predicted that this would be the eventual decision of the government. But Morgenthau made clear that "for the present" the government would continue to keep the $2,800,000,000 "under lock and key." So there is no saying when the currency will be issued.

Secretary Morgenthau said that from March 4, 1933 to June 30, 1934 the gross public debt increased about $6,000,000,000.

"Some observers," he said, "have concluded that it also represents the cost of the New Deal during that period, in so far as such cost is reflected in a growth of the public debt."

Assets Increased
"This assumption is easily made, but it ignores the all-important fact that, while we have increased our debt, we have also increased our assets, many of them in realizable form. By this I mean assets which in due time the government will turn into cash, thereby making them available for reduction of the national debt."

Making an "inventory of assets" for his listeners, he said that "against this gross increase we can offset, either now or ultimately the following assets:

(1) An increase in the treasury's cash balance of $1,000,000,000.
(2) The "profit" of $2,800,000,000 resulting from the reduction in the gold content of the dollar;
(3) The increase in the net assets of the agencies wholly owned and financed by the government, amounting on June 30, 1934 to $1,095,000,000."

Although Morgenthau did not carry this exposition to its conclusion, it would leave a net deficit of $508,000,000. Thus, on the basis of Morgenthau's theory, this sum would be the cost of the New Deal so far as it is reflected in the increase in debt.

Of the $2,800,000,000—which the government profited when it seized all gold and then devalued the dollar—$2,000,000,000 has been put aside for a stabilizing fund to keep foreign exchange at a level considered suitable.

When she awoke it was quite dark. The square of window below the blue shade showed yellow against the blackness of the walls. She sat up, pushing her hair back.

MANAGER STATE FAIR DIED SUDDENLY LAST EVE

Edward S. Collins Is Stricken While Attending Rally

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Three days after the Illinois State Bank, Ashton. This is the general manager, had closed for the 1934 season, Edward S. Collins of this city died.

Collins, who was stricken last night while attending the Morgan county fair, was 56 years old. He was appointed state fair manager by Governor Henry Horner in 1933 and had been in charge of two of its expositions.

Previous to being named to the state position he had been active in Morgan county Democratic circles. He had served as precinct committeeman for years and was a former treasurer of the county committee. He resided on a farm near Prentice, north of Jacksonville.

Collins, accompanied by Walter McLaughlin, state director of agriculture, came to Jacksonville last evening to attend the county fair. Shortly after he was introduced to the crowd at the grand stand he complained of feeling ill, returned to his seat and collapsed. He was taken to a hospital where he died. He is survived by his wife and daughter.

LEE CENTER NEWS

By Mrs. W. S. Frost
Lee Center—Mrs. Alvin Schick left for her home near Olivia, Minn., Friday. The condition of her mother, Mrs. Orlo Gale is about the same.

W. G. Taylor went to Chicago on the Dixon excursion Sunday and attended a Century of Progress.

Those attending the recovery program at the Rehearsal lodge at Paw Paw last Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Frizzelle, son Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Clem B. Miller, Mesdames Esther Conbar, Hattie Lippincott, Nellie Hothelkiss, Genevieve Frost and Misses Alice Parlin and Mae Tiffany. An excellent program was enjoyed which was followed by the serving of refreshments and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Beene and son Wilford moved to Springfield on Friday to see Mrs. Beene's mother.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOOTS RAEBURN is the prettiest girl in Larchmont, fashionable New York suburb, but her father's financial reverses make it hard for her to keep up with her crowd. Wealthy SYLVIA RIVIERE schemes to force Boots to resign from the Juniors. Deeply hurt, Boots accepts the attentions of RUSS LUND, the swimming instructor.

She realizes she is in love with Russ when he tells her he is going away. He wants her to love with him. But Boots asks for time to think it over. She dreams the time when her mother will hear about her withdrawal from the club.

Unhappy and restless, Boots goes to a swimming walk and meets DENIS FENWAY, young author. They have a long talk about the time when her mother will hear about her withdrawal from the club.

Boots goes to New York on a shopping trip and on the train meets Russ. Again he asks her to marry him and she is half-persuaded.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVIII
THE headache which had swooped down upon Boots in the glaring heat of the day was indeed a devastating one. She had had little sleep the night before. Her early rising and the tangled emotions of the previous hours had worked havoc with her healthy young body. Now, as she leaned back in the grateful coolness of the taxi with Russ's strong arm laid protectively across her shoulders, it seemed to her perfectly right, perfectly natural that she should do as she suggested.

"I look right," she said, burying her head in her hands. "I look terrible."

The cowhide bag at her feet was Russ's. The man which would pay for her room was his. But she was still perfectly free. Nothing had happened. She was free to turn the latch, walk out of that door this minute. . . out of his life, if she cared to. There was still time. . .

She stumbled to her feet and in that instant the sound of a ringing bell smote the stillness. The telephone.

She reached for the instrument, every nerve in her body tingling. The deep-throated voice sounding over the wire was Russ's.

"Feel better, huh?"
She began to tremble. The spell was on her again, the spell that everything about this big, square-shouldered man with the ready smile had for her. Ah, but she mustn't give in to it—she dare not!

"I'll come right over. We'll eat some place nearby. Listen, honey," in a lowered tone, "my brother knows a minister who'll fix us up tomorrow. . ."

Her mind was in a turmoil. "Where are you now?"
"I'm over in Long Island City. Be there in 15 minutes."

THE receiver clicked and the actual miles of distance separating them were there once more. The spell was broken, once his voice dropped into the void.

She ran into the bathroom, began to brush her hair, to wash her fevered face and hands. She must get clear away from here, be gone before he arrived. She would leave a note for him, explaining. . .

Her movements were slower than usual. It seemed to her that she could not do anything properly. Her dress was badly rumpled.

She wouldn't go home. She would try Sherry first. Sherry was two or three years older than she and possessed of good, hard common sense. Thumbing through the pages, she found the Mannings' number. Mrs. Manning's gentle voice said Sherry wasn't home. She'd gone up to Greenwich to a swimming party. She was to stay all night with the Forbesses. If er, who is ill. Mrs. Linda Brasel accompanied them as far as Green Valley where she visited a sister. They returned Monday, Mrs. Beene's mother coming with them and her condition is not much improved.

John Carlson, his mother, Mrs. A. J. Carlson and his sister, Mrs. Dick Miller and two little daughters and Miss Pearl Gross motored to Detroit, Mich. Friday. Mrs. Carlson will spend a couple of weeks there with the Miller family.

Mrs. Herbert Parker, Mrs. Earl Carlson and Mrs. W. S. Frost attended the annual picnic of the Lee County Women's clubs in Franklin Grove last Tuesday. On their return they called on Mrs. W. J. Lenke who is somewhat improved.

Floyd Derby of Freeport and Genevieve Nelson of Gratiot, Wis., were recent guests of Doris Richardson.

A picnic surprise dinner at the church last Sunday was given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Evan David and family, who are removing shortly to LaMoille where the former has accepted the pastorate of the Congregational church at that place.

from her face, her mind forged for an instant. Oh, she was all right. She was in the Willowmere where Russ had left her. She must call her mother. Why, her mother would be frantic. What had she been thinking of?

The phone rang four or five times, rang a dozen times more. There was no answer. Boots' heart was beating wildly, painfully. She had been in a movie with Sherry Manning. They had not realized it was so late. Could she stay all night with Sherry who, with her widowed mother, perched high above the city in a two-room apartment down near Sutton Place?

But the failure of her parents to answer the phone upset her plans. She could not send them a wire. In their quiet household it would be like a bombshell. Oh, what was she doing, away from the people who loved her so dearly—in this strange room, in this strange hotel, with slippers feet passing to and fro in the halls and strange voices talking and laughing rancously outside?

She had switched on the bedside lamp. In the mirror opposite, her face was white and strained, a ghostly glimmer.

"I look right," she said, burying her head in her hands. "I look terrible."

The cowhide bag at her feet was Russ's. The man which would pay for her room was his. But she was still perfectly free. Nothing had happened. She was free to turn the latch, walk out of that door this minute. . . out of his life, if she cared to. There was still time. . .

She wouldn't go home. She would try Sherry first. Sherry was two or three years older than she and possessed of good, hard common sense. Thumbing through the pages, she found the Mannings' number. Mrs. Manning's gentle voice said Sherry wasn't home. She'd gone up to

CASH INCOMES OF FARMERS OF ILLINOIS GROWS

Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics
Authority

Washington, Aug. 28—(AP)—Steady improvement in the cash income of Illinois farmers was reported today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Discussing a comparison of statistics compiled from data of the last three years, the bureau intimated, however, that with all the progress made toward parity price, there still remained much to be desired.

Discussing the nation as a whole, the bureau reported:

Nation As Whole

"The cash income to farmers from sale of 1933 crops and livestock combined and including benefit payments for crop control was $5,252,870,000 compared with $4,366,437,000 in 1932.

"If the value of farm products consumed by the farm household is added, the total gross income is $6,242,263,000 for 1933, compared with $5,324,398,000 for 1932.

"If the total cash income, including benefit payment, is divided among the 6,288,648 farms enumerated in the 1930 census, the average annual income was about $835 per farm. From this must be deducted current expense for production, wages, interest, rent, and taxes.

"The amount still remaining, if any, represents what is left to the farmer to compensate for the labor of himself and family, for depreciation of buildings and equipment, and for the use of his capital."

In Direct Ratio

The Illinois situation was in direct ratio with the Federal farm total.

In 1933, farmers of that state had a cash income of $241,510,000, which was $6,964,000 more than the cash income of 1932.

Some qualification, however, was necessary in giving these figures. The bureau called attention to the fact that the actual cash income for 1933, exclusive of AAA benefits, and other government rentals, was $239,022,000; but even this figure was $4,477,000 better than the $234,545,000 of 1932.

Still, the 1933 figure was $65,198,000 behind what Illinois farmers earned in cash in 1931.

Hard Dollar Return

The economists explained that "cash income" was the "hard dollar" return put into the pockets of farmers for everything they had sold to consumers living outside the state.

"Gross income" was defined by the bureau as being the cash income plus the value of the products consumed in the household on the farm where the commodities were produced.

In this, Illinois farmers' gross income was at wider variance. The 1933 total was $274,855,000, which was $3,770,000 more than 1932's $271,085,000, but $75,630,000 less than 1931's $350,485,000.

Carrying the comparative statistics a step farther, the bureau listed the three year range for "farm value," which the economists defined as the evaluation of the total outturn of every commodity, whether sold, or consumed in the production of further farm products on the farm where grown.

Figures Duplicated

There were duplications in these figures, the bureau said, because corn is often thrown into hogs; soybean hay into cattle; alfalfa fed to sale horses, etc.

For that reason, the farm value, gross and cash income from Illinois' farm production, 13 livestock items, are:

• 1931—Farm value, $253,019,000; gross income, $241,099,000; cash income, $208,043,000.

1932—Farm value, $187,738,000; gross income, $174,297,000; cash income, $148,600,000.

1933—Farm value, $190,102,000; gross income, $188,052,000; cash income, $153,236,000.

In addition, $3,114,000 was earned by Illinois farmers through AAA slaughter.

The same comparison, made up from 78 crops, is:

1931—Farm value, $202,764,000; gross income, $109,386,000; cash income, $97,178,000.

1932—Farm value, $190,861,000; gross income, $96,788,000; cash income, $85,946,000.

1933—Farm value, $181,349,000; gross income, $86,803,000; cash income, $75,878,000.

When $2,487,000 received as benefit payments by Illinois farmers are added to the 1933 cash income, the total becomes $78,274,000.
